Entry-Level Front-End Developer

Hello I am

Salah Mohsen

Dedicated front-end developer transitioning from a successful career as a photographer and photo editor. A self-learner with a rapid and passionate grasp of new technologies, I bring a unique blend of creativity and attention to detail to coding. My experience in photography and photo editing has honed my eye for design, making me particularly enthusiastic about the aesthetics of front-end development. Give me the job, and I'll swiftly master the required tech stack to craft exceptional web experiences.
